Meet the Eco Education Team

The Eco Connections material is produced as a project of the Queensland Province of the Sisters of Saint Joseph under the auspices of MacKillop Community Services Queensland Limited by Sisters Mary-Ann Casanova rsj and Rose Schick rsj (currently on leave).

Sister Mary-Ann comes from a background teaching in Catholic Primary schools. Her hobbies include photography, bird watching and learning to paint with watercolours. She has qualifications in education, religious education, administration and agriculture.

Mary-Ann is a member of the Diocesan Commission for Environmental Awareness within the Rockhampton Catholic diocese.

The Eco Education Office is located at The Haven, Emu Park, Queensland and has one of the best views of the Keppel Islands on the Capricorn Coast.

Following the recent refurbishment of The Haven Rose and Mary-Ann were responsible for the implementation of several ecological projects. Initiatives included the design and construction of a large composting worm farm, a labyrinth, bush tucker garden and landscaping using plants indigenous to the site.

You are invited to participate in an intensive In-service Program in the use of the Eco Connections material. The program will be run by the team which has developed the Eco Connection material and will be invaluable to all those who use the material in parish, school and informal settings.

In-service participants will:

- ⌘ be immersed in a formation experience in eco-theology, with reference to Catholic Social Teaching and Christian scripture
- ⌘ network with other Eco Connections users
- ⌘ explore ways of integrating the Eco Connections material into existing educational programs
- ⌘ experience a range of learning experiences, rituals and time for personal reflection

In-service sessions will be broken into three discreet days to allow greater flexibility of attendance.

Day One: Cosmology and Spirituality

- ⌘ An overview of the Eco Connections material
- ⌘ Cosmology and spirituality
- ⌘ Implementation Strategies

Day Two: Our Relationship with Earth and the Universe

- ⌘ The human relationship with the Earth and universe
- ⌘ The relationship between faith and the environment

Day Three: Living our Ecological Vocation

- ⌘ Ecological Conversion and Ecological Vocation
- ⌘ Building on the covenant
- ⌘ Sharing the good news

Who is this in-service for?

- The in-service is geared towards those who are
- ⌘ looking for excellent material in eco-spirituality and eco-theology
 - ⌘ present users of the Eco Connection material
 - ⌘ first time users or those who have limited experience in using the Eco Connections material
 - ⌘ Classroom teachers and specialist teachers—primary and secondary level (not only teachers of RE)
 - ⌘ Adult faith educators
 - ⌘ working with post-school youth
 - ⌘ interested in the relationship between ecology and spirituality

Please visit the Eco Connection website for information about the Eco Connections material www.ecoedoz.com.
