

In partnership with children, the Australian Children's Commissioners and Children's Guardians have published this book of Australian children's art to commemorate 20 years of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child.

Proceeds from the sale of this book will go to the National Association for Prevention of Child Abuse and Neglect (NAPCAN).

Books are $20 each plus postage and handling and can be purchased from the NAPCAN website at www.napcan.org.au/resources/research.

“...the Convention reminds us to what we aspire. It urges us not to give up, but to carry the flame for our children, and never forget what we owe them: the best what we have to give.”

Ms Quentin Bryce AC
Governor-General of the Commonwealth of Australia
